

COVID-19 Guidance and Resources for Employers

Below are resources for agriculture employers including almond growers, huller shellers and processors. As these materials are up to date. The Almond Alliance we will continue to provide revisions as they are received.

Responding to COVID-19 in the Workplace:

This guidance and checklist are for use by employers experiencing an outbreak of COVID-19 in their workplace. Employers should be proactive and keep in mind that identification of even a single positive case among employees may quickly develop into an outbreak. As outbreak circumstances and work practices vary, employers may need assistance from their local health department (LHD) to plan and coordinate a response to the outbreak that meets the needs of the workplace.
